Brothers and Sisters,

Today, our new TWU 555 website went live at twu555.org. One of the goals for our Communications Committee was to develop a website that allows for our union to own the intellectual property, have full control over the website framework, and have the flexibility to create a better user experience for our members on a variety of devices. It is also a priority for our local to have a union website developed and managed by union members.

With the launch of any product, there will be some areas that need improvement and along with feedback from the membership, we are confident that it will continue to evolve into a significant improvement from what has been offered in the past.

We appreciate any feedback or questions that you may have at communications@twu555.org, and look forward to serving the membership in this manner.

In Solidarity,

TWU Local 555 Communications Committee
