What do you like most about being an elected Station Rep?

Corey: The ability to directly be an advocate for and support fellow agents, ensuring fair treatment and working conditions by actively engaging with management to address concerns and workplace issues.

Jorge: The thing I like the most is having the privilege to help my coworkers with their problems and help them work them out.

What would you tell others who may be interested in running for Station Rep?

Corey: Keep the C.B.A. in your back pocket. Study it! Know it! Don't be afraid to approach leaders or supervisors to address issues, and make sure they uphold the contract.
